

Call for Papers for Program
at the 2020 AALS Annual Meeting
(Section on Law & Interpretation)

New Voices on Legal Interpretation

The Section on Law & Interpretation invites submission of papers and works in progress for this works-in-progress roundtable during the 2020 AALS Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C. The session has been scheduled for Saturday, January 4, 2020, at 3:30pm.

We particularly welcome submissions from individuals who have never presented a paper at an AALS Annual Meeting and from junior scholars. Submissions may address any aspect of legal interpretation, including legal doctrines of interpretation and explorations of issues in legal interpretation from alternative perspectives. The Section plans to invite leading scholars on the topics addressed in each paper to comment at the roundtable.

We welcome five- to ten-page project summaries, or similar-length excerpts from drafts, to be submitted by August 30, 2019. Please send submissions electronically to Professor Karen Petroski (Saint Louis) at karen.petroski@slu.edu. Participants will be selected after review by members of the Section Executive Committee and Program Committee. Please contact Karen Petroski with any questions.
