

Supreme Court of the United States
Washington 13, D. C.

CHAMBERS OF
ROBERT H. JACKSON

October 6, 1948.

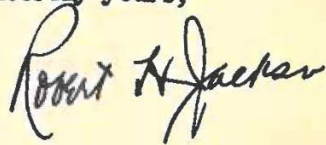

My dear Mr. Wiener:

I should be glad to see you at almost any time that will be convenient for you, but I regret that the occasion is your departure from Government service to private practice. I had already heard through Bob Sterne, and with regret, of your change. I shall miss the clear-cut, well-arranged arguments, the candid facing of questions and the thorough preparation which has always characterized your advocacy.

Private practice has its compensations, however, and they are not measured entirely in terms of money. I have often said that the best public office is a good private law practice.

My best wishes go with you and if you will call the office when it is convenient for you to be at the Court, I will gladly arrange to see you.

Sincerely yours,

Mr. Frederick Bernays Wiener,
Special Assistant to the Attorney General,
Department of Justice,
Washington, D. C.
